Verse 1:

          D                   A                   G                   D
Well when you're sitting there in your silk upholstered chair
D                   A                   G     D
Talkin' to some rich folks that you know
          D                   A                   G                   D
Well I hope you won't see me in my ragged company
D                   A                   G     D
For, you know I could never be alone

Chorus 1:

          A                                   D
Take me down little Susie, take me down
          A                                   D
I know you think you're the queen of the underground
          G                                   D
And you can send me dead flowers every morning
G                                   D
Send me dead flowers by the mail
G                                   D
Send me dead flowers to my wedding
          D                   A                   G     D
And I won't forget to put roses on your grave

Verse 2:

          D                   A                   G                   D
Well, when you're sitting back in your rose pink Cadillac
D                   A                   G     D
Making bets on Kentucky Derby Day
          D                   A                   G                   D
I'll be in my basement room with a needle and a spoon
          D                   A                   G     D
And another girl to take my pain away

A D
 Take me down little Susie, take me down
 A D
 I know you think you're the queen of the underground
 G D
 And you can send me dead flowers every morning
